

Summary for the "Search Engine" Briefing

The Computing Division currently supports the Inktomi Search Software Version 4.50 for the CD, Fermilab main pages, HEPIC and users web sites. There have been ongoing concerns as to the effectiveness of this search engine. The annual maintenance for the Inktomi search engine is being significantly increased for FY04. We will present the needs and options for the support of web page search engines by the Computing Division and look for discussion and input from the division and users.
